

NEWSLETTER February 2017

'Bunny and Guinea Pig Boarding'

Moon on his Hols; relaxed & looking part of the home :-)

Holidays

It's looking like a busy month and I know it's going to be another busy year. Some of you are uber organised booking your pets holibobs for Dec 2017!

If you have any holidays booked and you need my help please don't leave it too late to book your furry friend/s in at the Inn.

Pet Federation Industry Awards 2016— 'Hop Inn' Finalist

Last November I felt humbled to be picked as a Finalist for Pet Services, but if you're now wondering who Won, it was the marvellous Blue Cross.

I should have mentioned this in a previous Newsletter, but forgot, and that's the beauty of being busy :-)

Relocation of Hop Inn

After a year there's no news on our planning for the New Hop Inn. We must have used a tree in paper with all the information, reports & endorsements supplied! It's a real test of your sense of humour & patience, but I'm OK in that department :-)

We don't plan to move anytime soon and when we do it'll be a smooth move 5 mins away.

Hopefully more news in March's Newsletter

Price Increase – 1st March

This is a reluctant little increase of 50p per day to our normal tariff. If you have more than two sets of furry friends I'll always work on the lowest tariff.

If you've already booked holiday dates, which many of you have, the old price structure is honoured (of course).

I can promise that they'll be no increase in cost for 2018. PHEW, I'm glad that's out of the way!

Facebook

I appreciate not all of you will be on Facebook but if you are, please do like my page. I've had a new Facebook page at least 4 times, having set it up wrong over the years, and even never setting it up in the beginning!

I do manage to post some interesting articles and information which may be of help or just a giggle :-)

Thank you for choosing Hop Inn

Stay tuned,

Lisa
